

Update on Public Consultation of July 8, 2013

The Royal Society of Canada is delighted to have received a large outpouring of interest in this event, making it challenging to organize in the current circumstances. We are therefore rescheduling the consultation for later this summer. More details will be forthcoming shortly.